IT LOOKED SUSPICIOUS.

Why a Travelling Man Gave Up Playing Poker With Strangers.

"I don't play cards with strangers," said a quiet looking man on the Pullman in 1887, as he took an invitation from the drummer to join them in a little game of poker. "I'm a stranger here and was about to say so."

"He'd on," resumed the quiet man, "and I'll explain. At down here a minute or two and let me tell you."

The drummer being an obliging person sat down.

"About five years ago," began the quiet man, "I was out in the west country at a wild town, and one night, being fond of cards, and a pretty fair player, I asked four or five cowboys at the tavern where I was stopping to play cards with me. I didn't know them, and they didn't know me, but they took it for granted I was all right, and they went to my room, where I had two or three decks of cards. We started the game at a quarter the ante with a $2 limit, and it wasn't long until I was winning nicely; for, as I said before, I was a good player. After some time we took another deck of cards, and as usual I had a good hand."

"My winnings had made my new found acquaintances rather suspicious, but as I was perfectly honest I didn't pay much attention to that. I remember very distinctly I had an ace of diamonds in my hand, and when it came around to show down I knew the pot was mine, but just as I laid down my hand the man opposite me whipped out his revolver and jabbed it into my face, and on the instant out came all the other men's guns, and I was forced almost to run. I couldn't say word, for I thought my time had come, but nobody shot."

"Look here," ejaculated the man who had first pulled his gun, applying several disagreeable epithets in addition, and he took an ace of diamonds out of his hand. This restored my consciousness somewhat, and after waiting until each man had expressed his opinion of me, and the final decision had been reached that I was to give up all I had won and probably be shot later, I got a word.

"Gentlemen," I said, "appearances are against me, but I am honest. I don't know how that extra ace got in the pack, but if you will look in my valise there you will find a pack exactly like this one lying loose in it, and the cards must have got mixed in there. I'm sure I didn't do it." One of the men took the cards out of the valise and ran them over, and the ace was missing. "That much was in my favor, but it did not restore confidence."

"Send down stairs," I said next, "to the clerk and have him come up. He was playing here this afternoon."

"Then they sent for the clerk, and he said that he and a party of friends had played with those cards during the afternoon, and farther, that they had used two packs to do some tricks with. He also stood bond for my honesty, and after an hour or so of terrific strain on me my friends concluded I was all right. Then, to establish good fellowship finally, I insisted on their taking their money back. They set up the drinks all around, and I left them at last with a solemn vow registered that when I played poker again I must know everybody in the game, and everybody must know me. Don't you think one experience like that is enough for an honest man of quiet temperament to go through?" Detroit Free Press.

A Wily Photographer. "Oh, well," said a Hartford photographer to a pickpocket who pulled his face down over his eyes and averted his face. "It doesn't make any difference to me whether you are photographed or not. I get paid just the same." "Is that so?" exclaimed the fellow as he looked up in surprise. The photographer never got a better picture of a crook than the one he caught that moment. New York Times.

Plenty of Space. "Who is this coming?" asked the hotel clerk. "That's another East Indian prince," replied the porter. "Front!" "Yes, sir." "Bring in the double width register." Washington Star.

THE SILVER SEIGNORAGE.

The seignorage on the bullion purchased by the government is estimated at about $54,000,000. This seignorage is the difference between the price paid by the Treasury department for the bullion and the coinage value of the bullion. It is the amount which would have gone into the pockets of miners instead of the Treasury vaults if the coinage of silver was free.

The expenditures of the government are in excess of the receipts, and the $54,000,000 seignorage would be very acceptable just now to help balance accounts, but the goldbug prejudice against silver is so deep-seated in the Treasury department that no silver dollars have been coined since last May, the profits from that source have ceased, and the result is apparent in the Treasury statements.

For some reasons very contradictory reports have been published regarding the coinage of the seignorage on silver. Soon after Congress adjourned it was announced that Secretary Carlisle had ordered the seignorage coined. Subsequently Secretary Carlisle visited New York and in an interview which was published in the gold press of that city, declared that he had not ordered the seignorage or any part of it coined, and that the mints would not coin silver. Now the Secretary is quoted as saying that he had no intention of tolling off the seignorage and coining it, and in fact he is convinced that it can only be done by act of Congress.

Meantime the receipts of the Government for the first half of November are nearly $4,000,000 less than the expenditures. The dull times, caused in part at least by the suspension of silver coinage, and the low price of silver, are felt in the Treasury, but the goldbug remedy is to issue more bonds and let the stocks of silver bullion purchased under the Sherman act remain uncoined in the vaults.

In times of financial stringency it should be the duty of the Government to relieve the stringency by getting more money in circulation. If Congress had ordered all the silver bullion in the Treasury coined, and expended the coins in erecting public buildings, reclaiming desert lands and making other public improvements, the business depression would vanish, prices of products would advance, employment could be given the thousands now seeking work, and everybody, except the goldbugs, would be better satisfied.

THE NEW TARIFF BILL.

It is said that the new tariff bill, which is being prepared by the House Committee of Ways and Means is almost completed. There are several additions to the free list and the greatest reduction on articles not on the free list is on iron and steel, glass and the textile schedules. The duties on glass are reduced one-half, on steel rails to 25 per cent of their value, and on iron and steel to about 25 per cent. The shoe, leather and cotton schedules have not been materially changed while on carpets, blankets and plain textiles the cut is heavy. The ad valorem system is almost universally adopted.

It is generally believed that the new tariff bill will not pass Congress for many months, and it does not follow that the bill introduced by the Ways and Means Committee will become a law. The McKinley bill originally placed a duty of 1 1/2 cents per pound on raw sugar and a duty of $1 each on hides. When the bill became a law both these articles, and many others besides, were placed on the free list. Then, at the instance of Secretary Blaine, who said the bill did not make a market for one more bushel of wheat or barrel of pork, a reciprocity or free trade clause was inserted in the bill. There are now, as there was then, various interests to be considered and many of the silver men in the Senate are not disposed to look with favor on any measure that receives the approval of such goldbug free traders as Harter of Ohio and Wilson of West Virginia.

SACRAMENTO OFFICIALS.

An election was held in Sacramento on the 7th instant for municipal officers under a new charter which had been accepted by the people. The old city officers refuse to surrender their offices to those chosen at the recent election until the Supreme Court has passed upon the validity of the new charter. The outgoing and incoming officials appeared before the City Trustees and agreed that the vote should be canvassed, with the exception of one official, and that the Board should refuse in that one case to declare the result or issue a certificate of election. Then the official whose vote has not been canvassed can bring the matter clearly before the Supreme Court on a writ of mandate.

The result of the recent election in Sacramento was a great surprise to the professional politicians and office seekers. The bosses, place hunters and ringsters of the old parties combined, but the citizens elected Steinman Mayor by a plurality of about 1,300 and a clear majority of over 1,100. Now as a last result the ring men refuse to surrender their offices and will not do so until compelled by the courts.

The great Napoleon described public opinion as "that invisible and mysterious power which, though nothing can be more vague, unsteady and capricious, it is impossible to resist."

THE HAWAIIAN MUDDLE.

An Extraordinary Course Taken by the Administration.

ANXIOUS TO WIN HONORS.

A Lone Highwayman Hold Up a Stage.

THE HAWAIIAN MUDDLE.

The Administration has Adopted an Extraordinary Course.

New York, November 16.—A Washington special says: In anticipation of the condition of affairs which would arise should the Provisional Government give Willis his passports, the Administration has adopted the extraordinary course of providing him with independent authority to command the naval forces of the harbor of Honolulu. Under ordinary rules of international law Willis would not be Minister if his passports were given him by the Provisional Government, and he would not have authority to call on the naval forces of this country for any purpose whatever. To guard against this contingency, orders to the commanding officer of the naval forces were given him, signed by the President, directing the commanding officer to obey any orders coming from Willis, regardless of his official relations to the Hawaiian Government.

The close secrecy maintained at the State Department on Hawaiian affairs makes it difficult to judge how much printed as facts is true and how much is speculation. No word has been given by authority up to this time as to what the instructions to Willis actually are. It is some times possible to corroborate so much of a surmise as happens to be accurately made.

Readers of Associate Press dispatches can reasonably rely upon the accuracy of the statement that Willis is instructed to use all his powers of persuasion to induce the Provisional Government to consent to retire in favor of the Queen. He will try to induce the Queen to grant amnesty to all revolutionists, and will seek to induce members of the present Government to accept office under the Queen, but will not employ force to secure the attainment of his purpose without further instructions from this Government.

WANT TO SERVE BRAZIL.

Army and Navy Officers Ask Leave to Do So.

WASHINGTON, November 16.—The War and Navy Departments are in a great hurry over applications by army and navy officers to serve in the war in Brazil. Most applications have been made confidentially to the Secretary of War or Navy, with a request that if they cannot be granted the fact of their having been presented will not be published.

An application was made to-day in behalf of Commodore Gillis, on the retired list, who desires to take service under Peixoto. Although a retired officer, Gillis is not at liberty to serve under a foreign flag. All applicants will be told that it is necessary for the United States to preserve absolute neutrality.

President's personal agents are endeavoring to induce Captain Edmund Zalinski to take service on the El Cid. He is the inventor of the pneumatic torpedo projector that has been placed on the forward deck of the converted merchant steamer. He is on duty in San Francisco with his battery and a few days ago made an application for leave of absence, some of his numerous inventions demanding his presence in the East. The application for leave has been "held up."

A Stage Robbery.

UKIAH, November 16.—The overland stage of the Idaho Stage Company, operating between this city and Humboldt county, was held up by a lone highwayman at the crossing of Gold Gulch bridge, one mile south of Calipella, and within five miles of this place.

The driver was very politely ordered to throw out Wells, Fargo & Co.'s box, then to drive on and not to look back, all of which he did.

The two passengers aboard were not molested. The frightened passengers and thankful driver arrived in Ukiah in due time. When the news was spread, posses were at once organized to hunt for the bandit.

The way bills had been destroyed, so at present it is impossible to approximate the amount of booty secured.

The Judge Could Not Act.

GALVESTON, November 16.—A special from San Antonio to the News says: Twenty Chinese were brought before Judge Maxey of the Federal Court to-day, charged with the violation of the Geary law, being bound over to court by United States Commissioner Price. Judge Maxey announced that he could only act on such cases when appealed or brought on habeas corpus. The power of sentencing the prisoners for deportation rested with the United States Commissioner. The prisoners were released.

THE UNFORTUNATES IDENTIFIED.

The Identity of the Four Men Killed in the Salvia Wreck Satisfactorily Established.

In addition to what appeared in the JOURNAL yesterday morning the Coroner has been placed in possession of facts which it is believed will lead to clear and positive identification of all the unfortunate men who lost their lives in the recent wreck at Salvia, near Wadsworth. It will be remembered that the only evidence by which the Coroner's jury could arrive at a conclusion as to the identification of any of the men was letters and papers found in their clothing.

A letter from his father and mother and another from his sister, in Maine, led to the identification of Frank B. Small. The Coroner promptly telegraphed all the facts to the address given, and received a reply from the sister claiming the body as that of her brother, and at her request the body was prepared and shipped to his old home in Waterville, Maine.

Through the efforts of D. R. Gray, General Agent for the Southern Pacific Company at Salt Lake City, it is learned that the bodies listed as that of G. A. Trombo and Leroy Morris were respectively that of George Willmott and Sherman R. Wainwright. The former, it seems, was a resident of Salt Lake City, and has a wife residing there now.

The letter from Mr. Gray to Superintendent Whitford, from Salt Lake City under date of November 13th, explains itself and is as follows:

"For your information I would say that from conversation with parties here it seems that the parties listed as G. A. Trombo and Leroy Morris in the number killed in the recent wreck at Reno (Salvia) are Messrs. George Willmott and Sherman R. Wainwright, respectively.

"Mr. Willmott was a driver for G. A. Trombo, a confectioner of this city, and has a wife here. Mr. Wainwright was a driver for Fred S. Hadra, of the Chicago Liquor Company here. He obtained the address of Leroy Morris before leaving the city for the purpose of writing to him. The addresses given were Eldorado, Granger and Riter, Utah. He was a man about 5 feet 8 inches in height, strong bone, beardless and red hair. He has a sister that lives in Springfield, Missouri, whose address is now in possession of Fred S. Hadra, of the Chicago Liquor Company of this city, which I will send as soon as I can get it. These two men went away from here at the same time intending to go to California."

As was stated in yesterday morning's JOURNAL the name of the man who was listed by the jury as James A. Williams was in fact Joseph Irwin, or Irving, who hailed from the State of New York, and is supposed to have relatives residing in San Francisco.

From the foregoing facts it seems quite clear that all the unfortunate men have been satisfactorily identified. The graves of all the men are numbered, and corrections will be made by the Coroner in accordance with the facts, so that any of them may be easily and readily found. Coroner Brown informed the JOURNAL reporter that he would communicate with relatives of the dead men and give them all the information in relation to the matter that he has been able to gather.

A Small Blaze.

Yesterday afternoon about 3:30 o'clock an alarm of fire was sounded for a small blaze in a shed at the rear of J. J. Becker's residence on Third street. A bucket brigade was quickly formed, which kept the fire under control until the hose company got a stream of water playing on the burning shed and soon had the flames extinguished.

A JOURNAL reporter was informed last evening that the fire was started by Mr. Becker's little boy. The little fellow was cooking his dinner, as he termed it, in the shed when the building took fire. He ran into the dwelling and told his mother the shed was afire, and she rushed out and did her utmost to extinguish the flames with buckets of water, at the same time crying the alarm of fire. The lady's face was badly blistered from the heat in her efforts to subdue the flames.

As a high wind was blowing a serious conflagration might have resulted had not the blaze been discovered in the nick of time. As it is, however, the damage was very slight.

A Narrow Escape.

During the excitement of the fire yesterday afternoon Miss Coleman and Miss Howe, two of the teachers at Whitaker Hall, were riding along Fourth street in the buggy belonging to the school, and when near Chestnut one of the front wheels completely collapsed without apparent cause, allowing the front of the buggy to fall on to the hub of the wheel. The collapse frightened the horse and he started to run away. The ladies, who were not thrown from the buggy by the fall, held firmly to the lines and succeeded in stopping the horse before he had gone far.

The ladies had a very narrow escape, and should consider themselves fortunate that they suffered no serious injuries.

Decided by Arbitration.

The case of George W. Campbell against S. A. Hamlin, in which the plaintiff claimed that $300 balance was due him for the rent of his ranch near Essex, was submitted to Judge Benjamin Currier, W. C. Snodgrass and W. S. Robinson for arbitration last Wednesday. The arbitrators heard the facts in the case, and yesterday awarded Campbell the sum of $300.

ABSOLUTELY PURE*NEVADA'S EXHIBIT.

What Farmers and Others Promise to do for it.

The managers of the Nevada exhibit for the Midwinter Fair are meeting with encouragement from all parts of the State, and they can now assure the people that the exhibit will be an excellent one. D. Bonelli of Lincoln county, says in a letter to the managers:—"I will send samples of figs, grapes, almonds, etc., as well as rock salt, mica, copper and silver ore, petrified woods, fossils, etc. The advantage of such an exhibit from all over our State ought to be great."

Judge A. H. Greenbush of Nye says:—"Old Nye sent samples of her vegetables, fruits, etc., to Chicago. We are fully in accord with the idea of a Nevada exhibit at the Midwinter Fair, we will get there in grand style."

G. M. Bower of Elko county says:—"Will send you the best I have of fruit, hops, wheat, barley, spuds, etc., we will show what Elko county can do."

S. G. Weston of Elko county writes:—"We will send specimens of copper and all other ores. You will find a good showing from Elko county."

The farmers of Washoe county promise the managers every assistance in their power and will furnish their proportion of the material required to make a grand exhibit.

Hon. H. F. Danberg of Douglas promises a big exhibit from that county.

Manager P. H. Mulcahy will arrange to exhibit a model of the State Capitol at Carson made entirely of potatoes from every county in the State, making it a special feature for January and February. The people of Nevada should all take a personal interest in the exhibit and assist the managers as much as possible. The benefits to accrue will be of great value to all parts of the State. There will be a meeting of the State Agricultural Society at the court house to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock, at which all citizens are invited to attend, to discuss Midwinter Fair matters.

Teachers' Institute.

As has already been announced through the medium of the local papers an educational institute is to be held in Reno on the 27th, 28th and 29th of this month. Educational in every sense of the word, as by its means teachers are expected to become possessed of new ideas which they will impart to their pupils; and of new methods which they will, as a bright boy said in connection with an institute held in Storey county some years ago, "proceed at once to try on their pupils."

It is expected that a large number of visiting teachers will be in attendance, and it is hoped that they may find the time spent away from their respective school rooms, not only profitably, but pleasantly spent. To this latter end a proposition has been made that the citizens of Reno, who are known to be hospitable to a degree, shall aid in entertaining those teachers who may come from abroad, thus following the example set by the people of Storey county, who on at least two occasions of a similar nature, have entertained all visitors in the most generous manner possible.

A committee of six, composed of teachers from Reno's schools, will visit the citizens in a few days to ascertain how many of the latter, if any, are willing to aid in this matter by furnishing rooms or board, or both, to one or more of the visiting teachers. It is to be hoped that the committee will meet with the most liberal response, that Reno may thus be enabled to maintain the high reputation she has hitherto borne—a reputation which the most prosperous town in the State may well afford to bear.

IN OLDEN TIMES

People overlooked the importance of permanently beneficial effects and were satisfied with transient action, but now that it is generally known that Syrup of Figs will permanently cure habitual constipation, well-informed people will not buy other laxatives, which act for a time, but finally injure the system.

The Midwinter Fair.

A meeting of the Board of Directors of the State Agricultural Society will meet at the Secretary's office on Virginia street at 11:30 A. M. Saturday. The Board, through Secretary Stoddard, extends an invitation to all who desire to have Nevada send an exhibit to the Midwinter Fair to attend the meeting.

BREVITIES.

George Humphrey of Sierra Valley arrived on yesterday's N. C. O.

The largest assortment of heating stoves, parlor stoves, cook stoves and ranges, crockery and lamps at panic prices at Lange & Schmitt's.

The meeting of the Nevada State Agricultural Society and citizens will be held at the Court-house instead of the Secretary's office, as first announced, at 11:30 A. M. Saturday. All those who feel interested in Nevada's exhibit at the Midwinter Fair should attend.

Lyman Fredrick is already preparing for the holiday trade, and expects to surprise his many patrons in the novelties in the jewelry line that he will have in stock prior to the holidays. He means to keep in line with the stringent times and offer the finest jewelry at marvelously low prices.

The Truckee Republican is informed that the Southern Pacific Company has made a compromise with D. W. Leach, father of Edgar Leach, who was killed in the recent railroad wreck at Salvia. The exact terms of the compromise are not known. Young Leach was the head brakeman who was caught in the gangway between the boiler and tender of one of the engines, and suffered so terribly before he died.

The Keeley Institute.

By reference to the advertisement of the Keeley Institute, printed elsewhere in the JOURNAL, it will be noticed that the new officers have been installed and the Institute is now ready to continue the good work so successfully begun at the capital city some months ago. Dr. S. L. Lee, who recently took a thorough course in the study of the Keeley cure, and who is one of the prominent physicians of the State, is now the medical director and physician in charge of the Institute at Carson, and that fact alone is sufficient guarantee that patients under his charge will receive the best treatment that can be afforded them by an eminent physician. Hon. Evan Williams is President of the Institution.

The Keeley cure for the liquor, opium and tobacco habits has been universally recognized as a complete success, has received the endorsement of the United States Government and is used in nearly all its State and military homes for disabled volunteer soldiers and sailors. There are quite a number in Reno who have taken the cure for drunkenness and they have no hesitancy in testifying to the worth of the treatment. There is a class of six patients at the Institute at present and the business outlook is most encouraging.

Purely Accidental.

The shooting of the little Springmeyer girl at Carson Valley last Sunday, says the Carson News, was purely accidental, and her brother was in no way to blame for the shooting. The gun had been put behind the store-room door for safe keeping and the little ones in playing slammed the door with sufficient force to throw the gun to the floor. When the weapon struck the floor it was discharged and when the boy picked it up it again went off. It is not known which load killed the child. An older brother had used the gun last and supposed it was empty when he put it away.

The New Time Card.

Through the courtesy of W. D. Phillips, ticket agent, the JOURNAL is enabled to give the following relative to the change of time on the Central Pacific, which is to take effect Sunday next, the 19th instant: No. 1, east-bound, will arrive at 9:25 P. M. and leave at 9:35 P. M.; No. 2, west-bound, will arrive at 4:15 P. M. and leave at 4:30 P. M.; No. 3, east-bound, will arrive at 8:15 A. M. and leave at 8:25 A. M.; No. 4, west-bound, will arrive at 8:15 P. M. and leave at 8:25 P. M.

This will probably necessitate a change of time on the V. & T., but what the change will be is not, as yet, definitely known.

Baggage Smashing.

Should be a crime. It nettles the best natured man to see his baggage handled. It souars the sweetest temperament and sends a chill down the back every time. For such a sensation punish the baggage smasher and take Simmons Liver Regulator. It will soothe the agitated feelings, keep down the bile and make you vigorous enough to stand up for your rights.

Dangers of Consumption.

At the second annual sanitary convention of the State of California, which is to be held at San Jose, April 16, 1894, the following resolution, which will probably be freely discussed before being adopted, will be introduced: Resolved, That hereafter consumption (and other diseases due to bacillus tuberculosis) should be included in the list of diseases dangerous to the public health, requiring notice by householders and physicians to the local health officer as soon as such disease is recognized.

The distinguished and skilled surgeons and specialists of the Poly-pathic Medical and Surgical Association of San Francisco, will be in this city Saturday and Sunday, November 18th and 19th, and will have offices for free consultation at the Occidental Hotel. This association has ten physicians who are specialists of world-wide reputation, and have given their particular department of medicine many years of study, and the suffering and afflicted have the great advantage of having their cases attended to by a great specialist—such as no other medical institute can possibly offer. It will cost you nothing for consultation and may save you years of suffering. If you are unable to call upon the doctors during their visit send for their illustrated "Guide to Health." Address, 112 O'Farrell St., San Francisco. no16t2

"August Flower"

For two years I suffered terribly with stomach trouble, and was for that time under treatment by a physician. He finally, after trying everything, said stomach was about worn out, and that I would have to cease eating solid food for a time at least. I was so weak that I could not work. Finally on the recommendation of a friend who had used your preparations with beneficial results, I procured a bottle of August Flower, and commenced using it. It seemed to do me good at once. I gained in strength and flesh rapidly; my appetite became good, and I suffered no bad effects from what I ate. I feel now like a new man, and consider that August Flower has entirely cured me of Dyspepsia in its worst form. JAMES E. DEDERICK, Sauterfield, New York.

OLD TIME TROUSSEAU GOWNS.

Splendors of Silk and Gold, but What on Earth Were "Cama" and "Atlas"? Some one who has been delving into old, musty magazines has brought to light a description of some trousseau gowns made for Princess Charlotte when she married Prince Leopold of Saxe-Coburg.

Here is the description of the wedding gown: "The wedding dress was a slip of white and silver atlas, worn under a dress of transparent silk net, elegantly embroidered in a silver cama with a border to match, tastefully worked in floral designs to form festoons round the bottom, the sleeves and neck trimmed with a most rich suit of brussels point lace."

All very fine, but what, pray, thou quaint old fashion writer, are "cama" and "atlas"? "Mantua" is almost as obsolete a part of the vocabulary of fashion, but we still recognize behind it the image of a flowing cape. But "atlas"? It is a conundrum. And "cama"? An Egyptian riddle. It seems to have been quite popular, whatever it was, for another of the trousseau gowns was of white net embroidered in gold cama, with border laid over white satin. In this case the mantua was of rich gold brocade, with blown roses richly woven in and trimmed with gold lace. Of the other gowns of this old time bride, one was of transparent net richly embroidered in the bright and dull tones of silver; another was of fine white india muslin worked over in little spots wrought in filigree gold and fanned with brussels point; another was of silver tissue trimmed with silver lace.

In addition to all this gold and silver finery, there were two whole dresses of brussels lace, valued respectively at 300 and 800 guineas; also two of British blond net, specially worked for her royal highness. The last but one of the gowns described was a white muslin morning gown, trimmed with three broad rows of valenciennes lace. All the gowns, it will be noticed, were white, and most of them were gorgeous with gold and silver thread.

But the going away gown of the Princess Charlotte is enough to make a modern bride gasp. It was of the richest white silk, trimmed with a broad foot ruche of white satin, headed by two deep flounces of brussels point. The skirt sleeves and low bodice—imagine a decollete traveling gown—were veiled in the same lace. With this was worn a pelisse of white satin, lined with sarsenet and trimmed with broad bands of ermine. Unfortunately there is no description of this millinery which accompanied all this magnificence. Of course the hat must have been white and enormous, with sweeping plumes and voluminous lace veil.—New York Sun.

No Thief Will Touch It.
A costly ring, unguarded by police or other special protection, hangs suspended to a silken cord round the neck of a statue of the Maid of Almadena, the patron saint of Madrid, in one of the most frequented parks of the Spanish capital. It is set with valuable diamonds and pearls, but there is not the least danger of its being stolen. The greatest thief in Spain would sooner steal the plate from his own mother's coffin than to even so much as touch the ancient relic. Its history is curious and interesting, being equal to anything related in medieval folklore.

It was made in accordance with a special order from the late Alphonso XII, who gave it to his cousin, the beautiful Mercedes, on the day of their betrothal. She wore it constantly during her short married life. Upon her death the king presented it to his grandmother, Queen Christina. She died soon after accepting it, and the king then passed the deadly little jeweled band of gold to his sister, Infanta de Pilar, who died within a month after. Again the accursed circlet started on its deadly rounds, next finding a place upon the finger of Christina, daughter of the Duke Montpensier. In less than 100 days she, too, was dead. Alfonso then put the cursed jewel in his own casket of precious relics and lived less than a year after so doing. Is it any wonder that such a harbinger of death can safely hang on a statue in an unguarded square.—Philadelphia Record.

Edison on Food.
Said Edison in a recent interview: "Every man has a downy idea as to what he should eat and what he should not eat and what quantity of food he should partake of during the course of 24 hours. 'As a general rule, you may put it down that hustlers eat very little. I mean brain hustlers. They don't need much fuel. Eat very little.'"

"How much?"
The famous inventor picked up a scrap of yellow blotting paper lying before him and drew upon its rough surface a diagram. The broad brow of the thinker contracted. It must have been a difficult thing to determine just how much food substance it took to supply the system of the thinker. The result showed that Mr. Edison eats but 24 ounces of food a day.—Brandon Buckshaw.

Wanted the Basting Threads Pulled.
Basting corn from the cob may not be the most graceful or dignified mode of enjoying the vegetable, but it is a method much affected throughout the country.

Observing a young lady attacking an ear in this way recently, a Brooklyn man was bold enough to make the remark, "You like your corn unshaven, do you, Miss Blank?"

"Unshaven, did you say?" replied the miss, whose teeth had just become entangled in some corn silk. "I wasn't thinking of the whiskers, but when you spoke I was wishing that they'd pull the basting threads the next time they serve it."—New York Herald.

BALD HEADS!

What is the condition of yours? Is your hair dry, harsh, brittle? Does it split at the ends? Has it a lifeless appearance? Does it fall out when combed or brushed? Is it full of dandruff? Does your scalp itch? Is it dry or in a heated condition? If these are some of your symptoms be warned in time or you will become bald.

Skookum Root Hair Grower

Is what you need. Its production is not an accident, but the result of scientific research. Knowledge of the disease of the hair and scalp led to the discovery of how to treat them. "Skookum" contains neither minerals nor oils. It is not a dye, but a delicately cooling and refreshing tonic. By stimulating the follicles, it stops falling hair, cures dandruff and grows hair on bald heads.

Keep the scalp clean, healthy, and free from irritating eruptions by the use of Skookum Root Hair Grower. It destroys parasitic insects, which feed on the scalp and destroy the hair. If your druggist cannot supply you send direct to us and we will forward prepaid, on receipt of price. Grower, $1.00 per bottle; 5 for $5.00. Soap, 50c. per jar; 5 for $2.50.

Empty Stomachs the Safer in Battle.

Surgeon General Sternberg of the army and Dr. A. C. Bernays of St. Louis had flocked together and were discussing gunshot wounds in the lower part of the body. Dr. Bernays greatly interested the surgeon general by a proposition he laid down that when a man is shot in the abdomen shortly after eating a hearty meal the danger is much greater. "A case of that kind should be operated upon in every instance," said Dr. Bernays. "If the bowels are empty or nearly so, the same wound may be treated without operation."

"Applying that theory to soldiers?" remarked the surgeon general tentatively. "I would say they ought to do their fighting before breakfast," put in the specialist.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat

A Siamese Spectacle.
The king of Siam has a fine idea of the picturesque. On the night of the fighting at Bangkok he ordered his chair of state and shielded by the gigantic royal umbrella made a midnight inspection of the troops, followed by his body-guard and making an imposing show. As they marched along barbedots—read in the letter of a correspondent at Bangkok—their footfalls scarce disturbed the quietness of the night. One flaring pine torch cast its light upon the figures of the king and added to the solemnity of the scene as its light faded away into the distance, growing fainter and fainter as the troops, silent as death, passed in long lines.—London Globe.

May Find the Rent Hard to Pay.
A most curious rent audit takes place yearly on Nov. 11 at Breitenberg castle, near Itzehoe. Long ago a Count Rantzau while hunting nearly sank into a morass. He was rescued by a peasant, whom the count rewarded by the gift of a boggy piece of land upon the condition that he be paid a rent of one Danish penny every year. The land, arable now, goes by the name of "Penny meadow." As Danish silver pennies are becoming very scarce, the peasant's descendants will probably some day find it difficult to pay the tribute.—Green Bag

TRACING ONE'S ANCESTRY.
Genealogy Appears to Be a One-sided and Partial Theory.

A conversation among a group of people the other day, all of whom were of good New England families, brought to the attention of the group the fact that the party could trace his descent, in the line of mother, farther than he could in the line of father, though several could trace a very much farther line in paternal line, and even in what is called "the maternal line," which meant of course, their mother's mother's family. All present could tell the maiden name of their mother's mother, but only one could tell the maiden name of her mother. Of course many in New England among these genealogically careful people who can tell you the name of all their 10 great great grandfathers and great grandmothers cannot tell you the name of their great great grandmothers and great grandfathers. And those who cannot carry back the line of mothers more than three generations include the representatives of some of the most aristocratic families in New England, whose line of paternal descent is unbroken to the settlement and beyond.

Let us think for a moment what this question involves. Suppose you write down your own name. Then write down on one line just above it the names of your father and mother—the father's name first on the left, the mother's second on the right. You perceive that these two people had an equal interest in your being. There is at least a chance that you are like your mother in important physical and mental respects.

Now, set down on a line above these two names the names of your grandfather and grandmother, beginning with your father's father and ending with your mother's mother. These two couples again had as much interest in your father and your mother as your father and mother had in you, and there is in you as much of your mother's mother as there is of your father's father. Now above this line write down the names of your eight grandparents—which you should surely be able to do if you are a Yankee. Each one of these eight had an equal interest in you. Now you perceive that you have a pyramid standing on its apex. You are the apex. The left hand edge of it is your line of fathers, and on the right hand of it is your line of mothers.

In all likelihood you derive rather more of your characteristics from the right hand edge of the pyramid than you do from the left and while in all probability, if you are from a good New England family, you can go on stretching out the left hand edge of the inverted pyramid you cannot go on with the right hand edge any farther, and this means that your genealogy is a one-sided and partial thing.—Boston Transcript
